572	14 Apr 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Hon. Alexander Macdonald, Chairman, Assembly Ways & Means Committee, Albany NY. Same as above.
573	14 Apr 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Charles Henry Davis, Elmwood, Cambridge MA. April 12 1915. "As regards to the European war, from my knowledge of European conditions I believe it would be a disaster for civilization, if Germany were defeated, as this makes Russia dominant in Europe and give [sic] a period of reaction, worse than the alliance of a hundred years ago. We Americans do not realize this, as Russia is so far away, and we only think of civilized England and civilized France, and forget Russia with its over 80% of illiterates. However, as England and France can never defeat Germany, but a victory of the allies could be won only by Russia, it is obvious that the victor dominates. I consider the Slavs a very promising and capable race – I am partly Slav myself—and I think it probable that they may be the leaders of the white race after the German-Anglo-Saxons, but for generations to come they are not fit for leadership. I believe, if Germany should win a decisive victory, the result would be a partial disarmament, since Germany is essentially an industrial and not a military nation. A decisive victory, the result would be a partial disarmament, since Germany is essentially an industrial and not a military nation, and militarism [sic] only a result of the necessity due to their location. On the other hand a defeat of Germany would mean increased militarism, as it would merely be an armistice. That is the reason why I rather sympathize with the German side. As regards to the cause of the war, I am entirely satisfied that it is the failure of an earlier nation, as England, to hold their own against the rising individualism of Germany, which leads them to attempt to destroy by war a competitor which they could not meet in fair competition in the fields of industry and finance due to Germany's superior organization by the centralized cooperation of executive ability, theoretical science and private enterprise with government encouragement. With “cause of way” I naturally mean the real cause, not the various forms of pretext, with the governments make for the sake of appearances, but which obviously cannot deceive any thinking mind. Thus the causes leading up to the war is very similar to those in the Seven Years War of Prussia, England taking the place of Austria, and Belgium that of Saxony.”

574	14 Apr 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to John H. Finley, Albany NY. Arrangements for Brubacher inauguration.

"Received draft of your interview, but very greatly regret that I can see no way of making it right,, I am very sorry that it is so mixed up...I did not refer to "bringing the war home to the Rulers", but bringing it home to those responsible for it, which today are more often business and other interests.... You discuss the matter of bacteria as a recommendation or proposition made by me... I was merely discussing, as an outside observer, the tendencies towards which modern war tends...I would strongly urge you to drop this interview.... it most decidedly misrepresents my views... it is about as correct as if I would write an article on sports." [Clyde D. Wagoner later became a writer for the GE News Bureau, and wrote a 1957 article in the GE Review, "Steinmetz, the Myth and the Man"]

796	18 Oct 1915.	C.P. Steinmetz to Editor, NY American, NY City. "Enclosed I send you my views on the organization of our National Defense. I send it to you as I consider the Hearst paper as the only remaining great American paper, while all the other Metropolitan papers might as well write "London" or "Berlin" on their title page. I admire the energetic stand which the Hearst papers have taken in favor of true and honest neutrality, and in favor of national preparedness for self-defense. I do not believe, however, that much value can come out of the present agitation for "preparedness," as long as its exponents cannot rise beyond the recommendations of adding a few more soldiers to their army and a few more ships to the navy. Germany is invincible, because it has organized the whole nation for national defense. So we must organize the entire nation for defense, but not in the manner Germany has done: for Germany is a monarchy, and we are a democratic republic, and it is for us to devise a new and democratic way, to show the world, that a democracy can be organized as efficiently for national defense, if not more so, than a monarchy. But no mere increase of the number of mercenaries will do this. "

842	29 Nov 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Henry Ford, NY City. "Received your letter and telegram inviting me to take part in the movement for ending the European war, by joining you in getting to Europe to organize the peace movement. I desire to express to you my thanks for the invitation, and should like nothing better that you join you in this great work, as I am entirely and absolutely in agreement with your views in this matter, and in sympathy with your endeavor. I should desire very much to take an active part in its execution, and therefore I very greatly regret that my health is not such as to permit me to join the trip. I trust that you will succeed, even if temporary views on neutrality of our present American government make it hesitate to give official assistance. If there is any intelligence and reason left amongst the leaders of the European nations, I cannot help feeling that they must welcome the opportunity to escape from the present hopeless slaughter

		of millions of their best citizens. Your enterprise appears to me as the greatest individualistic attempt ever made in the interest of humanity, and if you succeed, it will not only end the present war, but will make war impossible for ever after. Every argument of the militarist and the advocate of military preparedness is answered, when it is shown that international conferences can stop a world's war and bringing nations back to their senses, and it will equally prevent any future war, and force every intelligent citizen to realize that military preparedness is not only unnecessary and wasteful, but is a direct menace to the safety of nations. There is no doubt that by far the largest majority of people throughout the world desire peace and are opposed to war and slaughter, and merely submitted to the guidance of a false nationalism and false patriotism, which made them suspect and fear each other. If this fear were once dissipated and an international conference awakened to realize the criminality of war and preparedness for it, armaments for mutual destruction would cease. You realize however that those financial, industrial and military influences, which benefit from war and destruction, will be strongly opposed to your endeavor, and only the pressure of an international people's conference can persuade them to accept peace. In my opinion, there is now a more favorable time to end war, than ever was in the history of the world, as all the great military nations are approaching exhaustion and begin to realize the horrors of the destruction which they have brought about. While I am unfortunately not able to join you, all my wishes for speedy success will be with you."
844	29 Nov 1915	J.L.R. Hayden to Veeder & Brown, Schenectady. Requests quote on 28 storm sashes.
845	29 Nov 1915	J.L.R. Hayden to Peckham & Wolf, Schenectady. Same as above.
846	29 Nov 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Henry Ford, NY City. "It is with the greatest regrets, that I had to decline you invitation to actively participate in the peace movement started by you, and I wish once more to express to you my sorrow over my inability to join your trip. I believe you will meet relatively little difficulty to have the central powers listen to any reasonable peace proposal, but I fear that you will have more difficulty with the Allies., and in this respect I believe, however much I may be an American citizen, with my out-spoken German name, my presence in the peace delegation would not be of assistance in the most difficult part of the work, but might rather make an excuse for misrepresenting your work, and I would regret if this would interfere with your success."
847	29 Nov 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to John H. Finley, Commissioner of Education of NY State, Albany NY. Detailed suggestions regarding Education Bill to come up

854	3 Dec 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Peckham, Wolf & Co. Schenectady. Order of 25 Storm Sashes.
855	3 Dec 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to Frank C. Perkins, Buffalo NY. Received your letter on proposed development of New York State Niagara Power Plant. “I am not much in favor of the proposition. Such a plant would largely parallel existing transmission and distribution systems, and would thereby be an economic waste, and by its rather low load factor, operate ineffectively as hydraulic plant. As long as politics enter into the administration of American public affairs, and the spoils system based on rotation of office has the least remaining hold, such municipal or state enterprises are questionable, however successful they may be in those European countries, where a different form of government assures their efficient management. In America, the very laws made for the protection of the public against political graft, such as that requiring acceptance of the lowest bid, often destroy the chance for success of municipal enterprises. Conservation of natural resources can be accomplished under evolutionary development of current private ownership as “our country is committed to some form of supervision of public utilities, and we can well leave this side of the problem to work itself out by the general drift of the world toward socialism.... I am therefore very much against making public ownership an issue in conservation and recommend to concentrate our energy on that phase of conservation which requires immediate action “, that is saving woodland and waters from “permanent destruction, areas where “our aims and interests are the same as those of the industrial corporations.” [Perkins was a consulting engineer from Buffalo who has been an opponent of the private Buffalo General Electric Co., a power company, in cases before the NY Public Service Commission]

856	4 Dec 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to C.R. Huntley, Buffalo General Electric Co., Buffalo NY. "CONFIDENTIAL. I find there is a movement toward building a Niagara Municipal Power Plant, and have been asked to join the movement. [See the above letter, 855]. As you are undoubtedly are interested in it, the intention being to transmit power to Buffalo. I send you attached copy of my answer, for your information, but not for publication."

861	8 Dec 1915	C.P. Steinmetz to John H. Finley, Commissioner of Education, NY State, Albany NY. Thanks for letter on education law being prepared. "I believe it would be very desirable if the Board of Education could get financial control of the schools, but do you think such a law could be passed by our legislature? Would not the Mayor's conference and other organizations oppose it? ... I had a short talk on the subject with Dr. Lunn, and he is very strongly of the opinion that a law taking the financial control entirely away from the Mayor's Board of Estimate would not pass the legislature" C.P. Steinmetz also favors a law "drawn so that the control of public libraries can be assumed by the Board of Education..."

892	13 Jan 1916	C.P. Steinmetz to E. Ridgway, NY City. Per request "my views of the terms of peace of the present European War. "... I believe that the only arrangement which can insure lasting peace is to draw the boundary lines to conform, substantially, to the nationalities of the people.... In territories of mixed nationality, somewhat greater weight would be given to the city population....Reorganization in accordance with nationality would require: the territory occupied by the Germans in France would be returned to France. Alsace would remain German... Belgium would be divided, the southern French part to be joined to France, the northern Flemish part to Germany or Holland... Belgium never was a nation.... Poland would remain an independent nation, probably allied with the central powers. Very few of us Americans realize that there is an unbridgeable gulf of religious hatred between the Poles, Bohemians, etc, as Roman Catholic Slavs, and the Russians, as Greek Catholics, and that the former look rather to "His Holiness Most Catholic Nation" Austria as their protector, than to heretic Russia. The old German colonies in the Baltic Provinces would return to Germany. Germani Finland and Celtic Ireland would become independent nations.... The Balkan peninsula outside to the Turkish Territory would be divided between Greece, (Latin Slav), Bulgaria, (Bulgar) and Roumania (Latin) in accordance with the predominant nationality. Here words "and would be in the sphere of influence of the central powers" are crossed out.] Main difficulty would occur in Northern Serbia and Montenegro, where live an isolated enclave of Greek Catholic Slavs. "The smaller nations cannot exist independently, and the only way in which smaller nations can preserve their nationality is by permanent union with a large nation, such as that of the Hungarians and Bohemians with the Germans in Austria. It was the failure of Russia to protect the nationality of the smaller nations included in its empire, the attempt to destroy their nationality and Russify them, which has alienated the Poles, the Finns, the Roumanians, Bulgarians, etc. from their former protectors. . Thus Poland and the Balkan nations probably will form a permanent

		union with the central powers, Finland with the Scandinavian nation; France, Italy and Spain form a Latin nation, etc.” ... “No indemnities should and could be paid if the peace is to be permanent. No indemnity can be paid by a nation, either in general or for specific damage done, without confessing itself guilty and defeated. Thus Germany should no more agree to pay for the damage done by the war in Belgium, than Russia would be willing to pay for the damage done in East Prussia.” ... “No way can be seen to guarantee that there would not be wars again in the future, except a reconstruction of society, that no successful war could offer any advantage to the Victor. This means the recognition of the moral code of the human race, of the principle, that all things which have a community value (such as means of production, transportation, etc.) belong to the community, all things which have an individual value only, remain private property. But until socialism is established throughout the world, war will remain. ... The modern cause of war is commercial interference: the attempt to destroy a successful commercial or financial competitor by reversion to brute force, the attempt to gain by force a commercial advantage which we cannot secure by fair means, etc.... “freedom of the seas would very greatly reduce the possibility of future wars... such freedom of the seas would make the destruction of a commercial competitor by war impossible... “The Monroe Doctrine essentially means, that we reserve the American continent as our sphere, within which the European nations have no rights beyond which we choose to allow them, and from which they have to keep their hands off. But such doctrine necessarily means that we must keep our hands off Europe of Asia. .. the only way, how we can justify and expect to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, is by keeping absolutely out of all European and Asiatic controversies. It would be fatal for America’s future to abandon the Monroe Doctrine.... our continent with its 150 million inhabitants is not and cannot be strong enough to meet by force the 1500 millions of Europe and Asia, and a merging of America with Europe is as impossible as that of Europe and Asia: our continental conception is that of democracy, while of Europe,- from France and England to Germany and Russia- is monarchical, and that of Asia theo-autocratic. Incidentally, this means, that we cannot impart into our nation systems and customs, which have proven efficient in Europe, such as universal compulsory military service, and hope to have them succeed here, but if the conditions arise, which require our nation to secure the same results, we have to work out a new method, based on the principle of democracy.... we cannot copy Europe and expect to succeed.”

944	13 Mar 1916	C.P. Steinmetz to Thomas H. Finagan, Department Commission of Education [sic], Albany NY. Comments on educational bill No. 1239 If bill ensures that Bard of Education controls and approves expenditures to be made by Board of Estimate, then "the law is satisfactory." If not "the new law is just as bad as the old one.... there is always a strong resentment of the citizen against interference with the schools, and the educational budget is easier to pass than any other." If other departments get control of education budget, "it is a great inducement to spend money liberally and wastefully." IN addition, "it is very necessary to guard against outside interference as for [sic] has been attempted here this year by a so-called "tax payers' association" Also wants to prevent Board of Estimate from reducing salaries of teachers or principals. "I notice that the law speaks of "citizens" for offices, and that women thus are eligible. I have therefore notified the Federated Women's' Clubs of our city of this, and they will probably take an active part in pushing the bill."
